City pumps up security at more sewer stations

The City of Cape Town's Water and Sanitation Directorate surpassed its 2023-24 financial year goals for improving security at sewer pump stations. A total of 38 pump stations were upgraded, exceeding the planned 30 stations, with an overall investment of almost R53 million.

Completing these security upgrades is a significant milestone in safeguarding the City's essential infrastructure from the ongoing challenges of vandalism and theft.

In May 2022, the Wallacecree sewer pump station was torched by arsonists, leading to operational disruptions due to flooding on site and along the interlinked sewer network throughout Wallacecree.

The security upgrades now implemented range from high perimeter fencing to the installation of steel doors, burglar bars and security guardhouses on site. Each site was individually assessed and solutions put in place based on the needs of each pump station.

NEW AND IMPROVED FEATURES
The facilities retrofitted with new and improved features are located in various areas across the city including: Dunoon, Wallacecree, Koeberg, Goodwood, Westbank, Belhar, Mfuleni, Crossroads, Faure, Elsies River, Rugby, Diep River, Kuyasa and more.

"Sewer pump stations have a critical role in conveying sewage from our properties to wastewater treatment facilities. Controlling access and tightening up security measures ensures that they function optimally, reducing sewer overflows, which result from incidents where pump station infrastructure is tampered with," says Mayco member for water and sanitation, Zahid Badroodien.

According to Badroodien the department is focussed on securing these sites because unfortunately, the pump stations are targets for vandals and thieves. "Residents can also help by being our eyes and ears, reporting any information about criminal incidents or attempts when they occur, so that it can be investigated," says Badroodien.

He adds that in addition to the upgrade project, other enhancements to security systems were done, such as installing CCTV cameras at seven pump stations and encasing inverters in steel cages at eight locations.

The City is dedicated to continuously improving and investing in critical infrastructure projects that ensure operational sustainability for the benefit of all residents.

Members of the Kleinvel Fitness Hub celebrated the club's 10th anniversary.

Fitness Hub celebrates 10th anniversary

Members of the Kleinvel Fitness Hub recently celebrated its 10th anniversary and are looking forward to many more years.

The hub started when Henry Campher, facility manager at the Kleinvel Centre at the time, sent out letters to the surrounding community to encourage people to start an exercising club in the centre.

According to Eileen Jacobs, spokesperson for the hub, they started with six members and has since grown to 36 women.

"The founding members are still active at the hub. They are Alta Layman, Dorothy Daniels, Charmaine Prinsloo, Melody Johnson and Cecilia Jooste. Dean Augustus later took over as facility manager from Campher, and under his guidance we obtained NPO status.

CANCER

"Johanna Steenkamp was the first chair, but a year into the post she was struck down with cancer and sadly passed away. We remember her fondly and appreciate all she's done for the club."

On 8 December 2015 Desirée Daniels took over as chair, and is currently still in that position.

"Over the 10 years we did well as a local gym, and we came along with deserving organisations in the area, although we didn't have any funds.

"We engaged ENON Rehabilitation Centre, Thema Workshop for the Handicapped, cancer awareness outreach, and making food for the underprivileged. All this was funded out of the pockets of the women, 95% of whom were social grant recipients.

INTRODUCED TO BALLET

"A highlight for the club was when we were introduced to ballet instructor Lydia Johnson," said

"Over the 10 years we did well as a local gym, and we came along with deserving organisations in the area, although we didn't have any funds."

Jacobs.

"Under her guidance, and with blood, sweat and tears, we were introduced to the world beyond Kleinvel. We started off dancing with a group from Bridgetown, but soon enough they felt that we were good enough to dance on our own."

"The next year we danced on our own at the Cape Town Carnival. Many of the women joined the club as young women but are also now seniors.

"We share a great friendship with one another and we love one another. Besides being each other's prayer warrior, we also help one another in whatever way we can when someone goes through difficulties."
